IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!

THE following advertisement was published in May, 1849, in the "Boston Daily Times," and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G Wilson, Esq., the owner of the "Woodworth Patent," shortly after I had advertised my "PATENT STATIONARY CUTTER, PLANING, TONGUEING, AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States:

"PLANING MACHINES.

"I take this method of answering the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise; as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, of the stationary Knife Planing Machines attempted to be palmed off upon several persons ignorant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that the same substantially the machine now offered by several pretending inventors, described in the 10th volume of the Repertory of Arts, invented by Samuel Bentham, in the year 1791. A like machine was patented in this country by one Kugler, some six teen years since, and another one put up by Albert Richards, of West Troy, N. Y., and abandoned about the same time. It ought to satisfy the public to know that after fifty eight years experimenting upon these machines, not one in use is of any value for the purposes contemplated.

I will furnish a Stationary Knife Machine equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending inventors, at the cost of the machine and five per cent for my trouble.
JAMES G. WILSON,
May 19, 1849. Philadelphia."

I deny that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine as mine until I invented the same. Said machine was operated in the month of August, 1848, and no machine before this could do so much work, and do it as well as mine. In reply to the above advertisement, and in order that the public may be assured that I mean what I say, I will offer to pledge ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, as much lumber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border St., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO'S
SODA SALÆRATUS

MAY be found at the Sugar Warehouse of Goodrich & Hunter, No. 42 East water-st.

The attention of the public is called to this article as being superior to Pearlash Saleratus in its effect—giving cookery a more delicate appearance and flavor; and also as more wholesome—Soda being more congenial to the human system than Potash. It is more economical than Pearlash Saleratus—a less quantity being required to produce the same effect. The article is put up in pound papers with full directions for use.

Also may be found, John Dwight & Co's

Washing & Cleansing Powders,

which will be found, on trial, a very superior article, saving much labor of washing Clothes, &c. It will soften hard water. To Engineers and Machinists it is invaluable for removing grease from Machinery and other iron works leaving the iron perfectly dry, and not liable to rust.

The American Cough Candy.

WE know of nothing in the annals of medicine which has achieved, within the same space of time, so just and general a reputation, as the above invaluable Cough Remedy. Testimonials of its wonderful efficacy in curing the most inveterate cold continue to flow in upon us. We are assured that where ever used it is superceding all other remedies of the kind. Grevious to relate, the Nightengale had the tested its virtue, probably never would have taken to herself a Goldschmidt. She having taken that melancholy step, from the fear that her voice was gone forever; having experienced only temporary relief from the Remedy last taken.

Why is the American Cough Candy like a Black Cloud? Because it goes ahead of Storms.

VOLUME VIII. MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL. NEW SERIES.

BLEAK HOUSE.

BY

BY CHARLES DICKENS.

CHAP. IV.--TELESCOPIC PHILANTHROPY.

We were to pass the night, Mr. Kenge told us when we arrived in his room, at Mrs. Jellyby's; and then he turned to me, and said he took it for granted I knew who Mrs. Jellyby was?

"I really don't sir," I returned. "Perhaps Mr. Carstone, or Miss Clare—"

But no, they knew nothing whatever about Mrs. Jellyby.

"In-deed! Mrs. Jellyby," said Mr. Kenge, standing with his back to the fire, and casting his eyes over the dusty hearth-rug as if it were Mrs. Jellyby's biography, "is a lady of very remarkable strength of character, who devotes herself entirely to the public. She has devoted herself to an extensive variety of public subjects at various times, and is at present (until something else attracts her) devoted to the subject of Africa; with a view to the general cultivation of the coffee berry—and the natives—and the happy settlement, on the banks of the African rivers, of our superabundant home population. Mr. Jarndyce, who is desirous to aid in any work that is considered likely to be called work, and who is much sought after by philanthropists, has, I believe, a very high opinion of Mrs. Jellyby."

Mr. Kenge, adjusting his cravat, then looked at us.

"And Mr. Jellyby, sir?" suggested Richard.

"Ah! Mr. Jellyby," said Mr. Kenge, is—a—I don't know that I can describe him to you better than saying that he is the husband of Mrs. Jellyby."

"A nonentity, sir?" said Richard, with a droll look.

"I don't say that," returned Mr. Kenge, gravely. "I can't say that, indeed, for I know nothing whatever of Mr. Jellyby. I never, to my knowledge, had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Jellyby. He may be a very superior man but he is, so to speak, merged—merged—in the more shining qualities of his wife." Mr. Kenge proceeded to tell us that as the road to Bleak House would have been very long, dark, and tedious, on such an evening, and as we had been traveling already, Mr. Jarndyce had himself proposed this arrangement. A carriage would be at Mrs. Jellyby's to convey us out of town, early in the forenoon of to-morrow.

He then rang a little bell, and the young gentleman came in. Addressing him by the name of Guppy, Mr. Kenge inquired whether Miss Summerson's boxes and the rest of the baggage had been "sent round." Mr. Guppy said yes, they had been sent round, and a coach was waiting to take us round too, as soon as we pleased.

"Then it only remains," said Mr. Kenge, shaking hands with us, "for me to express my lively satisfaction in (good-day, Miss Clare!) the arrangement this day concluded, and my (good-by to you, Miss Summerson!) lively hope that it will conduce to the happiness, the (glad to have had the honor of making your acquaintance, Mr. Carstone!) welfare, the advantage in all points of view, of all concerned! Guppy, see the party safely there."

"Where is 'there,' Mr. Guppy?" said Richard as he went down stairs.

"No distance," said Mr. Guppy; "round in Thavies' Inn, you know."

"I can't say I know where it is, for I come from Winchester, and am strange in London."

"Only round the corner," said Mr. Guppy.—"We just twist up Chancery-lane, and cut along Holborn, and there we are in four minutes' time, as near as a toucher. This is about a London particular now, ain't it, miss?" He seemed quite delighted with it on my account.

"The fog is very dense, indeed!" said I.

"Not that it affects you, though, I am sure," said Mr. Guppy, putting up the steps. "On the contrary, it seems to do you good, miss, judging from your appearance."

I knew he meant well in paying me this compliment, so I laughed at myself for blushing at it, when he had shut the door and got upon the box; and we all three laughed, and chatted about our inexperience, and the strangeness of London, until we turned up under an archway, to our destination; a narrow street of high houses, like an oblong cistern to hold the fog. There was a confused little crowd of people, principally children, gathered about the house at which we stopped, which had a tarnished brass plate on the door, with the inscription, Jellyby.

"Don't be frightened!" said Mr. Guppy, looking in at the coach-window. "One of the young Jellyby's been and got his head through the area railing."

"Oh, poor child," said I; "let me out, if you please!"

"Pray be careful of yourself, miss. The young Jellybys are always up to something," said Mr. Guppy.

I made my way to the poor child, who was one of the dirtiest little unfortunates I ever saw, and found him very hot and frightened, and crying loudly, fixed by the neck between two iron-railings, while a milkman and a beadle, with the kindest intentions possible, were endeavoring to drag him back by the legs, under a general impression that his skull was compressible by those means.

As I found (after pacifying him) that he was a little boy, with a naturally large head, I thought that, perhaps, where his head could go, his body could follow, and mentioned that the best mode of extraction might be to push him forward.—This was so favorably received by the milk-man and beadle, that he would immediately have been pushed into the area, if I had not held his pinafore, while Richard and Mr. Guppy ran down through the kitchen, to catch him when he should be released. At least, he was happily got down without any accident, and then he began to beat Mr. Guppy with a hoop-stick in quite a frantic manner.

Nobody had appeared belonging to the house, except a person in pattens, who had been poking at the child from below with a broom; I don't know with what object, and I don't thing she did. I therefore supposed that Mr. Jellyby was not at home; and was quite surprised when the person appeared in the passage without the pattens, and going up to the back-room on the first-floor, before Ada and me, announced us as, "The two young ladies, Missis Jellyby!" We passed several more children on the way up, whom it was difficult to avoid treading on in the dark; and as we came into Mrs. Jellyby's presence, one of the poor little things fell down stairs—down a whole flight (as it sounded to me), with a great noise.

Mrs. Jellyby, whose face reflected none of the uneasiness which we could not help showing in our own faces, as the dear child's head recorded its passage with a bump on every stair—Richard afterwards said he counted seven, besides one for the landing—received us with perfect equanimity. She was a pretty, very diminutive, plump woman, of from forty to fifty, with handsome eyes, though they had a curious habit of seeming to look a long way off. As if—I am quoting Richard again—they could see nothing nearer than Africa!

"I am very glad, indeed," said Mrs. Jellyby, in an agreeable voice, "to have the pleasure of receiving you. I have a great respect for Mr. Jarndyce; and no one in whom he is interested can be an object of indifference to me."

We expressed our acknowledgments, and sat down behind the door, where there was a lame invalid of a sofa. Mrs. Jellyby had very good hair, but was too much occupied with her African duties to brush it. The shawl in which she had been loosely muffled, dropped on to her chair when she advanced to us; and as she returned to resume her seat, we could not help noticing that her dress didn't nearly meet up the back, and that the open space was railed across with a lattice work of stay-lace—like a summer-house.

The room, which was strewn with papers, and nearly filled by a great writing-table covered with similar litter, was, I must say, not only very untidy, but very dirty. We were obliged to take notice of that with our sense of sight, even while, with our sense of hearing, we followed the poor child who had tumbled down stairs: I think into the back kitchen, where somebody seemed to stifle him.

But what principally struck us was a jaded, and unhealthy-looking, though by no means plain girl, at the writing table, who sat biting the feather of her pen, and staring at us. I suppose nobody was ever in such a state of ink. And, from her tumbled hair to her pretty feet, which were disfigured with frayed and broken satin slippers trodden down at the heel, she really seemed to have no article of dress upon her, from a pin upward, that was in its proper condition, or its right place.

"You find me, my dears," said Mrs. Jellyby, snuffing the two great office candles, in tin candlesticks which made the room taste strongly of hot tallow, (the fire had gone out, and there was nothing in the grate but ashes, a bundle of wood, and a poker) "you find me, my dears, as usual, very busy; but that you will excuse. The African project at present employs my whole time. It involves me in correspondence with public bodies, and with private individuals anxious for the welfare of their species all over the country. I am happy to say it is advancing. We hope by this time next year to have from a hundred and 50 to 2 hundred healthy families cultivating coffee and educating the natives of Borrioboola-Gha, on the left bank of the Niger.

As Ada said nothing, but looked at me, I said it must be very gratifying.

"It is gratifying," said Mrs. Jellyby. "It involves the devotion of all my energies, such as they are; but that is nothing, so that it succeeds; and I am more confident of success every day. Do you know, Miss Summerson, I almost wonder that you never turned your thoughts to Africa?"

This application of the subject was really so unexpected to me, that I was quite at a loss how to receive it. I hinted that the climate—

"The finest climate in the world!" said Mrs. Jellyby.

"Indeed, ma'am!"

"Certainly. With precaution," said Mrs. Jellyby. "You may go into Holborn, without precaution, and be run over. You may go into Holborn, with precaution, and never be run over. Just so with Africa."

I said, "No doubt."—I meant as to Holborn.

"If you would like," said Mrs. Jellyby, putting a number of papers toward us, "to look over some remarks on that head, and on the general subject (which have been extensively circulated,) while I finish a letter I am now dictating—to my eldest daughter, who is my amanuensis—"

The girl at the table left off biting her pen, and made a return to our recognition, which was half bashful and half sulky.

"—I shall then have finished for the present," proceeded Mrs. Jellyby, with a sweet smile; "though my work is never done. Where are you, Caddy?"

"Presents her compliments to Mr. Swallow, and begs—" said Caddy.

"'And begs,'" said Mrs. Jellyby, dictating, "'to inform him, in reference to his letter of inquiry on the African project.'—No, Peepy! Not on any account!"

Peepy (so self-named) was the unfortunate child who had fallen down stairs, who now interrupted the conversation by presenting himself with a strip of plaster on his forehead, to exhibit his wounded knees, in which Ada and I did not know which to pity most—the bruises or the dirt. Miss Jellyby merely added, with the same serene composure with which she said everything—

"Go along, you naughty Peepy!" and fixed her fine eyes on Africa again.

However, as she at once proceeded with her dictation, and as I interrupted nothing by doing so, I ventured quietly to stop poor Peepy as he was going out, and to take him up to nurse. He looked very much astonished at it, and at Ada's kissing him; but soon fell asleep in my arms, sobbing at longer and longer intervals, until he was quiet. I was so occupied with Peepy that I lost the letter in detail, though I derived such a general impression from it of the momentous importance of Africa, and the utter insignificance of all other places and things, that I felt quite ashamed to have thought so little about it.

"Six o'clock" said Mrs. Jellyby. "And our dinner hour is nominally (for we dine at all hours) five! Caddy, show Miss Clare and Miss Summerson their rooms. You will excuse me, I know, being so much occupied. O, that very bad child! Pray put him down, Miss Summerson!"

I begged permission to retain him, truly saying that he was not at all troublesome; and carried him up stairs and laid him on my bed. Ada and I had two upper rooms, with a door of communication between. They were excessively bare and disorderly, and the curtain to my window was fastened up with a fork.

"You would like some hot water, wouldn't you?" said Miss Jellyby, looking round for a jug with a handle to it, but looking in vain.

"If it is not being troublesome," said we.

"O, it's not the trouble," returned Miss Jellyby; "the question is, if there is any.

The evening was so very cold, and the rooms had such a marshy smell, that I must confess it was a little miserable; and Ada was half crying. We soon laughed, however, and were busily unpacking, when Miss Jellyby came back to say that she was sorry there was no hot water; but they couldn't find the kettle, and the boiler was out of order.

We begged her not to mention it, and made all the haste we could to get down to the fire again. But all the little children had come up to the landing outside, to look at the phenomenon of Peepy lying on my bed; and our attention was distracted by the constant apparition of noses and fingers, in situations of danger between the hinges of the doors. It was impossible to shut the door of either room; for my lock, with no knob to it, looked as if it wanted to be wound up; and though the handle of Ada's went round with the greatest smoothness, it was attended with no effect whatever on the door. Therefore I proposed to the children that they should come in, and be very good at my table, and I would tell them the story of little Red Riding Hood while I dressed; which they did, and were as quiet as mice, including Peepy, who awoke opportunely before the appearance of the wolf.

When we went down stairs we found a mug, with "A present from Tunbridge Wells" on it, lighted up in the staircase window, with a floating wick; and a young woman, with a swelled face bound up in a flannel bandage, blowing the fire of the drawing room (now connected by an open door with Mrs. Jellyby's room,) and choaking dreadfully. It smoked to that degree, in short, that we all sat coughing and crying with the windows open for half an hour; during which Mrs. Jellyby, with the same sweetness of temper, directed letters about Africa. Her being so employed was, I must say, a great relief to me; for Richard told us that he had washed his hands in a pie-dish, and that they had found the kettle on the dressing table; and he made Ada laugh so, that they made me laugh in a ridiculous manner.

Soon after seven o'clock we went down to dinner; carefully, by Mrs. Jellyby's advice; for the stair-carpets, besides being very deficient in stair-wires, were so torn as to be absolute traps. We had a fine cod-fish, a piece of roast beef, a dish of cutlets, and a pudding, an excellent dinner, if it had any cooking to speak of, but it was almost raw. The young woman with the flannel bandage waited, and dropped every thing on the table wherever it happened to go, and never moved it again until she put it on the stairs. The person I had seen in pattens (who I suppose to have been the cook) frequently came and skirmished with her at the door, and there appeared to be ill-will between them.

All through dinner, which was long, in consequence of such accidents as the dish of potatoes being mislaid in the coal-skuttle, and the handle of the cork-screw coming off, and striking the young woman in the chin, Mrs. Jellyby preserved the evenness of her disposition. She told us a great deal that was interesting about Borrioboola-Gha and the natives; and received so many letters that Richard, who sat by her, saw four envelopes in the gravy at once. Some of the letters were proceedings of ladies' committees, or resolutions of ladies' meetings, which she read to us; others were applications from people excited in various ways about the cultivation of coffee, and natives; others required answers, and these she sent her eldest daughter from the table three or four times to write. She was full of business, and undoubtedly was, as she had told us, devoted to the cause.

I was a little curious to know who a mild, bald gentleman in spectacles was, who dropped into a vacant chair (there was no top or bottom in particular) after the fish was taken away, and seemed passively to submit himself to Borrioboola-Gha, but not to be actively interested in that settlement. As he never spoke a word, he might have been a native, but for his complexion. It was not until we left the table, and remained alone with Richard, that the possibility of his being Mr. Jellyby ever entered my head. But he was Mr. Jellyby; and a loquacious young man, called Mr. Quale, with large shining knobs for temples, and his hair all brushed to the back of his head, who came in the evening, and told Ada he was a philanthropist, also informed her that he called the matrimonial alliance of Mrs. Jellyby with Mr. Jellyby the union of mind and matter.

This young man, besides having a great deal to say for himself about Africa, and a project of his for teaching the coffee colonists to teach the natives to turn piano forte legs and establish an export trade, delighted in drawing Mrs. Jellyby out by saying, "I believe now, Mr. Jellyby, you have received as many as from one hundred and fifty to two hundred letters respecting Africa in a single day, have you not?" or, "if my memory does not deceive me, Mrs. Jellyby, you once mentioned that you had sent off five thousand circulars from one post office at one time?"—always repeating Mrs. Jellyby's answer to us like an interpreter.

During the whole evening, Mr. Jellyby sat in a corner with his head against the wall, as if he were subject to low spirits. It seemed that he had several times opened his mouth when alone with Richard, after dinner, as if he had something on his mind; but had always shut it again, to Richard's extreme confusion, without saying anything.

Mrs. Jellyby, sitting in quite a nest of waste paper, drank coffee all the evening, and dictated at intervals to her daughter. She also held a discussion with Mr. Quale: of which the subject seemed to be—if I understood it—the Brotherhood of Humanity; and gave utterance to some beautiful sentiments. I was not so attentive an auditor as I might have wished to be, however, for Peepy and the other children came flocking about Ada and me, in a corner of the drawing-room, to ask for another story; so we sat down among them, and told them in whispers, "Puss in Boots," and I don't know what else, until Mrs. Jellyby, accidently remembering them, sent them to bed.—As Peepy cried for me to take him to bed, I carried him up-stairs; where the young woman with the flannel bandage charged into the midst of the little family like a dragoon, and overturned them into cribs.

After that, I occupied myself in making our room a little tidy, and in coaxing a very cross fire that had been lighted, to burn; which at last it did, quite brightly. On my return down stairs, I felt that Mrs. Jellyby looked down upon me rather, for being so frivolous; and I was sorry for it; though at the same time I knew that I had no higher pretensions.

It was nearly midnight before we could find an opportunity of going to bed; and even then we left Mrs. Jellyby among her papers, drinking coffee, and Miss Jellyby biting the feather of her pen.

"What a strange house!" said Ada, when we got up-stairs. "How curious of my cousin Jarndyce to send us here!"

"My love," said I, "it quite confuses me. I want to understand it, and I can't understand it at all."

"What?" asked Ada, with her pretty smile.

"All this, my dear," said I. "It must be very good of Mrs. Jellyby to take such pains about a scheme for the benefit of Natives—and yet—Peepy and the House-keeping!"

Ada laughed; and put her arm about my neck, as I stood looking at the fire; and told me I was a quiet, dear, good creature, and had won her heart.—"You are so thoughtful, Esther," she said, "and yet so cheerful! and you do so much, so unpretendingly!—You would make a home out of even this house."

My simple darling! She was quite unconscious that she only praised herself, and that it was in the goodness of her own heart that she made so much of me?

"May I ask you a question?" said I, when we had sat before the fire a little while.

"Five hundred," said Ada.

"Your cousin, Mr. Jarndyce. I owe so much to him. Would you mind describing him to me?"

Shaking back her golden hair, Ada turned her eyes upon me with such laughing wonder, that I was full of wonder too—partly at her beauty, partly at her surprise.

"Esther!" she cried.

"My dear!"

"I want a description of my cousin Jarndyce!"

"My dear, I never saw him."

"And I never saw him!" returned Ada.

Well to be sure!

No, she had never seen him. Young as she was when her mamma died, she remembered how the tears came into her eyes when she spoke of him, and of the noble generosity of his character, which she had said was to be trusted above all earthly things; and Ada trusted it. Her cousin Jarndyce had written to her a few months ago—"a plain, honest letter," Ada said—proposing the arrangement we were now to enter on, and telling her that, "in time it might heal some of the wounds made by the miserable Chancery suit." She had replied, gratefully accepting his proposal. Richard had recieved a similar letter, and had made a similar response. He had seen Mr. Jarndyce once, but only once, five years ago, at Winchester school. He had told Ada, when they where leaning on the screen before the fire where I found them, that he recollected him as "a bluff, rosy fellow." This was the utmost description Ada could give me.

It set me thinking so, that when Ada was asleep, I still remained before the fire, wondering and wondering about Bleak House, and wondering and wondering that yesterday morning should seem so long ago. I don't know where my thoughts had wandered, when they were recalled by a tap at the door.

I opened it softly, and found Miss Jellyby shivering there, with a broken candle in a broken candlestick in one hand, and an egg-cup in the other.

"Good-night!" she said, very sulkily.

"Good-night!" said I.

"May I come in?" she shortly and unexpectedly asked me, in the same sulky way

"Certainly," said I. "Don't wake Miss Clare."

She would not sit down, but stood by the fire, dipping her inky middle finger in the egg-cup, which contained vinegar, and smearing it over the ink stains on her face; frowning the whole time, and looking very gloomy.

"I wish Africa was dead!" she said, on a sudden.

I was going to remonstrate.

"I do!" she said. "Don't talk to me, Miss Summerson. I hate it and detest it. It's a beast!"

I told her she was tired, and I was sorry. I put my hand upon her head, and touched her forehead, and said it was hot now, but would be cool to-morrow. She still stood, pouting and frowning at me; but presently put down her egg-cup, and turned softly toward the bed where Ada lay.

"She is very pretty!" she said, with the same knitted brow, and in the same uncivil manner.

I assented with a smile.

"An orphan. Ain't she?"

"Yes."

"But knows a quantity, I suppose? Can dance and play music, and sing? She can talk French, I suppose, and do geography, and globes, and needle-work, and everything?"

"No doubt," said I.

"I can't," she returned. "I can't do anything hardly, except write. I'm always writing for ma. I wonder you two were not ashamed of yourselves to come in this afternoon, and see me able to do nothing else. It was like your ill-nature. Yet you think yourselves very fine, I dare say?"

I could see that the poor girl was near crying, and I resumed my chair without speaking, and looked at her (I hope) as mildly as I felt towards her.

"It's disgraceful," she said. "You know it is. The whole house is disgraceful. I'm disgraceful. Pa's miserable, and no wonder! Priscilla drinks—she's always drinking. It's a great shame and a great story, of you, if you say you did'nt smell her to-day. It was as bad as a public-house, waiting at dinner; you know it was!"

"My dear, I don't know it," said I.

"You do," she said, very shortly. "You sha'n't say you don't, You do!"

"O, my dear!" said I, "if you won't let me speak—"

"Your'e speaking now. You know you are. Don't tell stories, Miss Summerson."

"My dear," said I, "as long as you won't hear me out—"

"I don't want to hear you out."

"O, yes, I think you do," said I, "because that would be so very unreasonable. I did not know what you tell me, because the servant did not come near me at dinner; but I don't doubt what you tell me and I am sorry to hear it."

"You needn't make a merit of that," said she.

"No, my dear," said I "That would be very foolish."

She was still standing by the bed, and stooped down (still with the same discontented face) and kissed Ada. That done, she came softly back and stood by the side of my chair. Her bosom was heaving in a distressful manner that I greatly pitied; but I thought it better not to speak.

"I wish I was dead!" she broke out. "I wish we were all dead. It would be a great deal better for us."

In a moment afterward, she knelt to the ground at my side, hid her face in my dress, passionately begged my pardon, and wept. I comforted her, and would have raised her, but she cried, No, no; she wanted to stay there!

"You used to teach girls," she said. "If you could only have taught me, I could have learnt from you! I am so very miserable, and I like you so very much!"

I could not persuade her to sit by me, or to do anything but move a ragged stool to where she was kneeling, and take that, and still hold my dress in the same manner. By degrees, the poor tired girl fell asleep; and contrived to raise her head so that it should rest on my lap, and all night long she slumbered thus before the ashy grate. At first I was painfully awake, and vainly tried to lose myself, with my eyes closed, among the scenes of the day. At length, by slow degrees, they became indistinct and mingled. I began to lose the identity of the sleeper on me.—Now, it was Ada; now, one of my old reading friends, from whom I could not believe I had so recently parted. Now it was the little mad woman, worn out with courtesying and smiling; now some one in authority at Bleak House. Lastly, it was no one, and I was no one.

The purblind day was feebly struggling with the fog, when I opened my eyes to encounter those of a dirty-faced little spectre fixed upon me. Peepy had scaled his crib, and crept down in his bed-gown and cap, and was so cold that his teeth were chattering as if he had cut them all.

FLAX IN DODGE COUNTY.—We last spring noticed the fact that Mr. Atwater of Oak Grove, had sowed about six acres of flax.—While at the Center last week Mr. Atwater informed us of his success. Circumstances prevented his threshing his crop until last week. The birds and animals had wasted considerable but he thinks he shall have at least 10 bushels of clean seed to the acre, besides a ton and a half of straw. The straw he contracted to sell for $20 per ton.—The seed he contracted to sell for $1 25 per bushel. This will give him $12 50 for his seed to the acre, besides the straw. His success is stimulating others to its cultivation, and we think all the seed will be sown this season that can be procured. A gentleman from Oconomowoc was in our village last week for the purpose of buying seed for the sowing of one hundred acres.—Watertown Register.

OLIVER CROMWELL ON THE MAINE LAW.—This title looks like a curious anachronism, but the grim old Puritan has put on record his opinion of the principle underlying all sumptuary laws as this of Maine. In a letter written in 1664 to the Governor of Edinburg Castle, Cromwell says:

"Your pretended fear lest error should step in, is like the man who would keep all the wine out of the country lest men should become drunk.—It will be found an unjust and unwise policy to deprive a man of his natural liberty, upon a supposition that he may abuse it. When he doth abuse it—Judge."

The Southern Rights Democratic Convention re-assembled at Milledgville, at 3 P.M., yesterday, according to adjournment, and read the report of committee of 33, recommending the Baltimore Platform of '44-'48, and recommending the appointment of 40 delegates to the Baltimore Convention. This report was adopted, and the delegates were appointed. 4 from each judicial district were nominated by the delegates from the district, 8 for the State at large were appointed by the Convention. The delegates to the Convention go uninstructed to show preference for any party, but altho' not expressed, it is understood that a large majority of the Convention were in favor of Buchanan as their first choice.

"DEMAGOGUEISM" ILLUSTRATED.

The Commercial of Friday last favored the public with a dissertation upon "Demagogueism," in which the attempt "to carry the prejudices of birth and religion in a strife of political parties," was severely and justly denounced, as "the lowest trick of a demagogue," "revolting to all right-thinking people," and especially "insulting" to those who were sought to be made the objects of the experiment. As such attempts have been part of the regular game played by so-called democratic leaders and presses, at every election for twenty years past, we were prepared to hail the Commercial's opening as a frank admission that these practices were all wrong, and as an implied pledge that henceforth the Commercial, at least, would eschew them. But a second glance at the article showed us that it was a homily, not a confession; an affectionate exhortation to the Whigs not to imitate, in this matter, the bad example of the democrats.

What moved the Commercial to this labor of love, that paper thus explains:

We have been led into this course of remark by the appearance of a large number of letters written recently by one of the Whig candidates for the Presidency, to various Irish associations throughout the country.

And fearing lest "our Irish fellow-citizens" should fall victims to the writer's seductive wiles, the Commercial thinks if necessary to caution them against his "blarney"! But about this "large number of letters" &c. One and only one has been published, addressed to an Irish association in Brooklyn, and running thus:

Washington, March 17.

Gentlemen:—It was only yesterday that the pressure of public business obliged me to decline the honour of meeting a number of Irish friends at the approaching celebration of St. Patrick's day in Philadelphia. I beg you will accept what I said to them in reply. You do me but justice in supposing me to take a lively interest in Ireland and her sons. Perhaps no man, certainly no American owes so much to the valor of Irishmen as myself: for many of them marched and fought under my command in the war of 1812, and many more—thousands—in the recent war with Mexico, not one of whom had been known to turn their back upon an enemy or a friend.

I remain, yours, &c.,

WINFIELD SCOTT.

Now the most vigilant and experienced mouser will, we think, fail to discover anything under that meal. Assuredly there is no attempt, nor pretence of attempt, to "array the prejudices of birth and religion" in political strife. The letter (the only actual one out of the Commercial's imaginary "large number") is the brief, simple, and frank acknowledgement of an old Soldier for courtesy received at the hands of his Irish fellow-citizens. We have seen "a large number of letters written recently" by sundry democratic candidates for the Presidency, to wit Cass, Buchanan, Douglas, &c., to "various Irish associations," quite elaborate in their professions of regard and good-will; but their "appearance" don't seem to have troubled the Commercial in the least. It could discover no trick, or taint of "demagogueism" about them. The alarming feature of this Irish correspondence is Gen. SCOTT's short letter. But that letter itself is unexceptionable. Why then should its publication move the Commercial to fulminate a special edict against "Demagogueism?"

Because, says that print, "there is another side to this question." Once upon a time General SCOTT wrote a very different sort of a letter about the Irish, says the Commercial, and as "there is a movement on foot to gain the Irish and Catholic vote for Gen. SCOTT," it will be a good time, thinks the Commercial, to block the game by publishing the General's "Native American letter" written in 1841. Of course, the Commercial, in doing this, has no thought of "arraying the prejudices of birth and religion" against GEN. SCOTT. Oh no! it would not descend to such "demagogueism." It leaves such "tricks" to your artful old politicians, like the Conqueror of Mexico, whose letter above quoted may be taken as a fair sample of his style of work. And to punish him for his presumption in returning a civil answer to an invitation from his Irish fellow-citizens, the Commercial reproduces GEN. SCOTT's "Native American" letter of 1841, and upon the strength of it charges him with declaring war against "foreigners," "because he was a staunch Protestant"!

Here again, you see, there is no design, on the Commercial's part, "to array the prejudices of religion," against General SCOTT—not a bit of it!—And you conclude, from the Commercial's general fairness and hatred of "Demagogueism," that this "because" is truly stated. What says the obnoxious letter?

I am happy to see by the Philadelphia National American, that religion is to be excluded as a party element. Staunch Protestant as I am, both by birth and conviction, I shall never consent to a party or state religion. Religion is too sacred to be mingled up with either. It should always be kept between each individual and his God, except in the way of reason and gentle persuasion, as in families, churches, and other occasions of voluntary attendance, (after years of discretion) or reciprocal consent.

That was Gen. SCOTT's declaration; precisely the reverse of the one attributed to him by the Commercial!

But the Commercial invites us to explain the "inconsistencies" of this '41 letter. Instead of doing this ourselves, we will allow an Irishman and a Catholic, THOS. D'ARCY MCGEE, editor of the American Celt, to do it for us. We copy from his paper the following comments upon the very letter which furnishes the Commercial with its text:—

We have reason to know that the General has since repented his "Reed letter." Indeed, a Biography of him just published contains as appendix, an answer to some questions by that inconvenient interrogator of Whig notabilities, (Mr. W. E. Robinson) which openly recants the obnoxious declaration. He writes:

"In reply to your kind letter of the 8th inst., I take pleasure in saying that, grateful for the too partial estimate you place on my public services, you do me no more than justice in assuming that I entertain "kind and liberal views towards our naturalized citizens." Certainly, it would be impossible for me to recommend or support any measure intended to exclude them from a just and full participation in all civil and political rights now secured to them by our republican laws and institutions.

It is true, that in a season of unusual excitement, some years ago, when both parties complained of fraudulent practices in the naturalization of foreigners, and when there seemed to be danger that native and adopted citizens would be permanently arrayed against each other in hostile factions, I was inclined to concur in the opinion, then avowed by many leading statesmen, that some modification of the naturalization laws might be necessary in order to prevent abuses, allay strife, and restore harmony between the different classes of our people. But later experience and reflection have entirely removed this impression, and dissipated my apprehensions.

In my recent campaign in Mexico, a very large proportion of the men under my command were your country men, (Irish) Germans &c; I witnessed with admiration their zeal, fidelity, and valor in maintaining our flag in the face of every danger. Vieing with each other and our native-born soldiers, in the same ranks, in patriotism, constancy, and heroic dareing, I was happy to call them brothers in the field, as I shall always be to salute them as countrymen at home."

This letter is dated Washington, May 26th, 1848, and no doubt contains the writer's latest opinions, on the subject of the naturalization of emigrants.

Here is an answer to the Commercial's appeal. It will no doubt make haste to republish this frank avowal of GEN. SCOTT's, that "experience and reflection have entirely removed" his earlier apprehensions on the subject, since nothing could be better calculated to restore these "prejudices of birth and religion" which designing and unscrupulous demagogues" have sought and are still seeking to "array" against GEN. SCOTT.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

MADISON, April 3, 1852.

A communication from J. R. Doolittle, Esq. was read in the House this morning, on the subject of the proceedings in the matter of the Quo Warranto. He censures the Attorney General for the action which he has taken in the premises.

I enclose a bill which has been introduced in the Senate by Mr. Huebschmann, providing for the support of paupers in the city of Milwaukee.

The bill, heretofore mentioned, providing for a percentage to be paid into the Treasury of the Fire Department of Milwaukee, by agents of insurance companies of other states there resident, was considered by the House. A section had been added making its provisions to apply wherever Fire Departments are organized. The House struck this out, but afterwards referred the bill to a select committee to have the section replaced.

The select committee to whom was referred the bill making appropriation for the support of the Institution for the Blind for the current year, reported it back, recommending $2500 as the necessary sum. This sum was inserted in the bill, and in this form it passed.

Most of the day was occupied in discussing the bill appropriating $10,000 to Mr. Reynolds for damages on account of not having the use of the dredge in constructing the Portage Canal. After a full discussion, and the reading of a good part of the testimony taken in the case before the Commissioners of Public Works, the bill passed by the following vote:

Ayes.—Abbott, Bancroft, Barlow, Beck, Blodgett, Briggs, Burnham, Cate, Catton, Conger, Cooper, Crammond, Earnest, Fellows, Fyffe, Giles, Gordon, Graham, Green, Hammett, Hasse, Hoyt, Knoell, Kinney, Lawrence, Lewis, Mead, Monroe, Mott, Phelps, Powers, Richardson, Ricker, Rout, Sholes, Skinner, Staats, Sterling, Strong, Sugden, Toay, Utley, Van Nostrand, Wood, Worthington, Shafter—46.

Noes; Barber, Botkin, Burgess, Clemons, McKee, Patch, Peak, Pierce, Ramsey—9.

The money is to be paid out of the Improvement Fund. In the course of the debate, Mr. Barber took occasion to defend Ex-Gov. Dewey, who was for eight years his law partner, from the various aspersions and insinuations that have been thrown out against his integrity.

The bill which passed the Senate a few days since, relative to the construction of certain sections of the Milwaukee city charter, was put through the House this afternoon under a suspension of the rules. It provides that Sec. 18 of chap 10 shall not be construed so as to prevent the street commissioners of any ward from causing streets to be worked to a temporary grade. The Common Council is authorized to issue bonds at interest not more than 10 pr ct, to pay the city debt; and also to elect annually one or more persons to cast the city vote at the Railroad meetings.

The Select Committee in the Senate, to whom the apportionment bill was referred, reported yesterday a substitute for it, based upon a Senate of 21 members, and a House of 64, making innumerable changes, which tell against the old counties, while they do not make matters any more favorable for the younger ones than the bill reported by the joint committee. Milwaukee county is made to lose one member, and such is also the case with Washington, Walworth, Rock, Grant, Dodge and others. The members thus gained are given to the newer counties—which is all well enough, so long as their population warrants it. It is no doubt very desirable that the younger counties should be fairly represented, but the Constitution is imperative on the point of representation as to population. Hence, it will not answer to take members from the old counties, and distribute them as the new project seeks to do. For instance, the basis in this new calculation being 4700 or thereabouts, the counties formed from Brown are, with it, given 2 members, the population being set down at 6222; Marathon, Portage, Waupaca and Waushara have a member, with a reported population of 1733; Crawford, Chippewa, La Crosse, and Bad Axe, one with 3014; St. Croix, and La Pointe, one with 1219, &c. &c. &c. This new project was referred, with the original bill, back to the joint committee, and it is understood that the first bill will be reported again, and be passed through the Senate. There is no disposition to spend much time upon the bill. W. H. W

A BILL

In relation to the support of Paupers in the city of Milwaukee:

The People of the State of Wisconsin represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1. It shall be the duty of the common council of the city of Milwaukee, and of the board of supervisors of the several towns of Milwaukee county, to see that all paupers in said city or any of said towns are properly relieved and taken care of, whether such paupers are now by law a town or county charge.

Sec. 2. Such paupers shall hereafter be relieved at the expense of the city or town, where they reside, whether they may have gained a legal settlement in such city or town, or not: Provided however, That towns shall be, or now by law they are, liable for the support of paupers who shall have a legal settlement therein.

☞ A correspondent of the Free Democrat makes a violent onslaught upon the Mayor for venturing to express the opinion that the Charter does not provide for Assistant City Surveyors.—It is barely possible that this correspondent is one of the would-be assistants; in which case his disinterested opinion as to the proper construction of the Charter is undoubtedly to be preferred to that of the Mayor, who drew it up, and who has no aim, or object, but to construe it fairly, and do his duty under it faithfully.

SCHOOL TEACHER'S EXAMINATION.—A class of Sixty-three Teachers, 29 Males and 34 Females, presented themselves yesterday at the Annual Examination by the Board of School Commissioners. The exercises occupied the entire day. The selection of Teachers for the City Schools during the ensuing year, is to be made from among those examined yesterday. The whole number to be employed will be from twenty to twenty-five.

THE RAIL ROAD ROUTE TO THE MISSISSIPPI.—We hear glowing accounts, from the Engineers of the Milwaukee and Mississippi R. R. Company, of the excellence of the route, West of Madison. We are assured that it is the best and cheapest Rail Road Route, for the distance, to be found in the United States.

☞ The Wisconsin having obtained, after two weeks' importunate begging, just one out of ten "democratic" votes for City Printer, now wants the public to believe that it didn't beg at all. It "did'nt do anything else."

☞ The Wisconsin professes to be quite concerned about the condition of the Sentinel's "wits." We would gladly reciprocate this friendly interest, if the Wisconsin had any "wits" to be concerned about.

New York, April 2.

A large and interesting debate transpired in the U. S. Senate, yesterday, on Mr. Borland's resolution for information relative to the objects of the expedition to Japan. The matter was postponed.

Last evening two important meetings were held at Tammany Hall, of the old and young men's Democratic Committee. In both, Lewis Cass was nominated as the Democratic candidate for President.

The lower Police Court was again crowded yesterday with California adventurers, who had been victimised by buying through tickets to California by A. H. Pride & Co. The examination of the accused was waived and they were held to bail in $30,000 each, for their appearance when required.

The weather shows a decided improvement, and the roads are slowly becoming passable.

Toledo, April 2.—The Southerner brings intelligence that the Ohio has returned into Erie, after a week spent in the ice, during which time her provisions and fuel were exhausted, and her engine disabled. The Lake is still crammed with ice below Erie. Capt. Keith informs us that the ice field extends diagonally across the Lake from Erie to Point Au Pelle, and that there is a great deal still floating this side of Erie. The boats Baltic, and Ocean entered Erie by following a channel near this shore. There is no certainty that this will remain open a day, and boats entered at the risk of being blockaded.

160 acres	$100@$109
80 "	54@	58
40 "	26@	30

The New York Courier and Enquirer, of the 27th inst. says: "The demand for location is not very heavy as yet, but will doubtless soon be much increased, and as it becomes known at the West that all Warrants now or heretofore issued from the Pension Office are assignable, we look for an extensive demand from that quarter.—Great care is necessary in making the transfer.

RAILWAY BONDS.—The Circular of Messrs. Baring, and the London newspapers, speak of American Railway Bonds as having been negotiated in London to a limited extent. The London News says, "more extensive transactions would have been entered into, had the supply been larger." The New York Express says, "The high rate of interest which railway securities have borne, and the regularity with which it has been paid, have imparted a desire to hold them, and a confidence in them on the continent which is reacting on England. The demand for this description of security is daily increasing.

In the shape of medicine is Dr. Storm's Celebrated Scotch Cough Candy. We must all acknowledge that a remedy in a form so agreeable, and yet so powerful, is preferable to any other. Mr. Hamilton Wade, the proprietor of this article, has been engaged in the Drug business at Philadelphia and St. Louis, for many years, and we see that his fellow druggists of the Western cities commend his Candy Medicine, to the public as a safe and agreeable compound for diseases of the chest and Lungs.—Quincy, Ill, Herald & Argus, July 12th, 1850.

Price, One Dime per roll; 3 rolls for 25 cents; or $1 per dozen.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

THESE celebrated Bitters prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, 120 Arch-st., Philadelphia, are performing astonishing cures throughout the whole country. We can bear witness to their curative powers in the case of a friend of ours who had the Liver Complaint, and who had tried almost every other medicine, but without effect. After taking a few bottles of these Bitters he was entirely cured. To those who are similarly afflicted we recommend them to take the preparation, knowing that they will cure the disease spoken of, and many others to which 'flesh is heir to.' There is a spurious article made in Philadelphia. The only place to get the genuine article is 120 Arch-st., Philadelphia, of Jackson, or his agents throughout the country.

NEW GUIDE,

FOR THE

OVERLAND ROUTE TO CALIFORNIA.

THIS book is compiled from notes made on the Journey for the express purpose of furnishing a correct and reliable Guide Book to the overland emigrant. The want of such a work has been severely felt by all who have crossed the plains. Much suffering and loss of teams have been occasioned, for want of a knowledge of the distances from grass to grass, and from water to water, and for proper directions to find good camping places. This book contains advice upon all these points in full, also as to the best roads and short cuts, by following which, much travel and labor may be saved.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Mr. J. P. Welsh, of Milwaukee, who made the overland trip in 1851. He took with him a copy of this work and says:

"In regard to the 'guide' you furnished me, it has proved very accurate, and been mainly depended upon, though we had Mormon and other guides, some quite minute and extensive. Even some persons, who had once crossed, asked for copies of part. For Sale by S. CHAPMAN, East Water St. and B. B. BIRD, Wisconsin St. April 2.-d6-2w

American Mutual Insurance Co.
OF AMSTERDAM, N. Y.
CAPITAL......................$200,000.

THIS Company insures property in two classes, designated as Farmers' Department and Merchants' Department, the accounts of which are kept in separate books, there being no connection, other than that the business of each is under the supervision of the same Board of Directors, thus giving the public the advantage of two Companies, with the expense of one office.
Losses in one class can in no way affect the funds of the other, as the Charter provides that each class shall pay its own losses.
FARMERS' DEPARTMENT is confined to farmers' buildings, detached dwellings, and their contents.
MERCHANTS' DEPARTMENT will embrace property of more hazardous description.

EMPIRE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
Union Springs, N. Y.

CAPITAL.........................$100,000.

THE Directors of the Empire Insurance Company feel confident that the plan of Insurance adopted by them will meet with a hearty response from a discerning public. Our Charter and By-Laws require that the applications received shall be divided into two or more classes. Dwelling Houses, and property of similar hazard, only, can be insured in the First Class, excluding Taverns, Work-shops, School-houses, Seminaries, Churches, and other kinds of hazardous property, usually taken in the so-called "Farmers' Companies," or "Farmers' Departments." This will render the Empire emphatically a "Farmers' Company."
They submit for the judgment of their fellow citizens the following summary of their plan of operations:
1. Policies will be divided into distinct Classes, the funds of each class being kept separate, and each paying its own losses. The notes given in one Class are not liable for losses happening in the other.
2. Any applicant may, at his option, pay a definite sum in full for his insurance, in lieu of giving his note.
3. The First Class to consist of dwelling houses and other farm buildings and personal property therein. Not more than two-thirds of the value of any building to be insured; but the personal property therein may be insured to its cash value.
4. The Second Class to consist of Churches, School-houses, Seminary buildings, Work-shops, Taverns, Stores, Mills propelled by water power, &c., and personal property therein.
5. Not more than $3000 will be taken in one risk.
6. Steam Mills of all kinds, Distilleries, Cotton and Woolen Factories, Powder and Oil Mills, Furnaces, Machine Shops, and other extra hazardous property will not be taken in this company.
7. This Company will hold itself responsible for the correctness of all surveys and other official acts of its authorized agents, thus ending all cavil as to the technical correctness of surveys, and the consequent liability of the Company.
8. Any policy-holder may at pleasure withdraw from the Company by paying his share of the losses up to the time of such withdrawal.
9. This Company will adjust all claims with promptness and liberality, and if at any time a difference shall arise between the parties, the same may be settled by a mutual reference in the county where the loss shall have occurred.
10. Additional Stoves may be set up, or moved from one room to another, without giving notice to the Company; also, such repairs as do not increase the hazard of the property, need not be notified.
11. This Company will pay losses caused by lightning, whether the buildings are burned or otherwise damaged.
12. Should any more money be collected than sufficient to keep the company in a sound condition, it will be returned to the policy holders in proportion as each shall have paid in.
The Directors, in soliciting patronage for the Empire Insurance Company, do so in the firm conviction that the plan will be found as CHEAP and SAFE as any company can be made. In arranging their Rates of Hazard, and the kinds of property to be insured in each class, they have sought to secure sufficient cash premiums to meet all losses; laying by the small notes taken as a Reserve Fund, which shall render the Company perfectly safe against all contingencies.
For a more definite and full view of their plan of operations, they respectfully invite an examination of their Rates of Hazard and Classification of Property to be insured.

NEW YORK
MUTUAL BENEFIT ASSOCIATION,
Union Springs, N. Y.

THIS Association is formed for the mutual relief of its members in case of sickness or accident. A careful examination of its principles, and its beneficent objects, is respectfully solicited. The character and standing of the Board of Directors is a guaranty that the money received will be safely preserved, and faithfully devoted to the objects proposed. The progress of HEALTH INSURANCE, within the past few years, in localities where its principles have been understood, and its beneficent results practically seen and felt, is unparalleled.
Men are literally binding themselves together to bear one another's burdens. No kind of Insurance can be so generally useful as that of Health; for most people are dependent upon it as the capital which enables them to procure the means of livelihood. Hence, when by disease or accident this is gone, all is gone; and either an unpleasant dependence on friends, or poverty and pauperism, is the consequence. It is not presumed that accident or the ravages of disease can be prevented; but by a wise forethought, a fountain may be provided, which, when the hand of affliction does come, will soften its asperities, and secure a comfortable support for yourself or family.

Conditions of Membership.

A Certificate of Membership will be forwarded on payment of $1,50 Admission Fee, and the first annual deposit mentioned below. Each member will be entitled to a Weekly Benefit during the time disabled by sickness or accident from attending to his ordinary business or occupation. WATER-CURE ESTABLISHMENT,
BRATTLEBORO', VERMONT.

THE Proprietor, DR. R. WISSELHOEFT, begs leave to inform the public, that he has recovered from his severe sickness, and is able again to attend to his professional duties. Former and new patients, therefore, may depend upon his giving due attention to their cases. They will also find comfortable and pleasant accommodations both for themselves and friends, but will please to remember that the establishment is intended for the cure of diseases by means of water, and not for a hotel as a fashionable watering place. Yet, to the lovers of nature and a quiet summer residence, the house has many attractions besides its Water-cure, for Nature has indeed been lavish of her gifts on the town, and the walks and drives in the vicinity.

PATENT MEDICINES.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1851, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., in the clerk's Office of the District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Another Scientific Wonder!
DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S
GREAT DYSPEPSIA CURER!

THE TRUE
DIGESTIVE FLUID, OR GASTRIC JUICE

PREPARED from Rennet, or the fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.
This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Constipation, and Debility, Curing after Nature's own method, by Nature's own Agent, the Gastric Juice.
Half a teaspoonful of Pepsin, infused in water will digest or dissolve, Five Pounds of Roast Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.
Pepsin is the chief element, or Great Digestive Principle of the Gastric Juice—the Solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming an Artificial Digestive Fluid, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it. By the aid of this preparation the pains and evils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed, just as they would be by a healthy Stomach. It is doing wonders for Dyspeptics, curing cases of Debility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption, supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The Scientific Evidence upon which it is based, is in the highest degree Curious and Remarkable.

SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE.
Baron Liebig in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says: "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous to the Gastric Juice, may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of the stomach of the Calf, in which various articles of food, as meat and eggs, will be softened, changed, and digested, just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach."
Dr. Pereira, in his famous treatise on "Food and Diet," published by Fowler & Wells, New York; page 35, states the same great fact, and describes the method of preparation. There are few higher authorities than Dr. Pereira.
Dr. Combe, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observes that "a diminution of the due quantity of the Gastric Juice is a prominent and all prevailing cause of Dyspepsia;" and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in London, who was severely afflicted with this complaint, finding everything else to fail, had resource to the Gastric Juice, obtained from the stomachs of living animals, which proved completely successful.
Dr. Graham, author of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet," says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, that the stomachs of animals, macerated in water, impart to the fluid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestive process."
Professor Dunglison, of the Jefferson College, Philadelphia, in his great work on Human Physiology, devotes more than fifty pages to an examination of this subject.—His experiments with Dr. Beaumont, on the Gastric Juice, obtained from the living human stomach and from animals, are well known. "In all cases," he says, "digestion occurred as perfectly in the artificial as in the natural digestions."
Dr. John W. Draper, Professor of Chemistry, in the Medical College of the University of New York, in his "Text Book of Chemistry," page 386, says, "It has been a question whether artificial digestion could be performed—but it is now universally admitted that it may be."
Dr. Carpenter's standard work on Physiology, which is in the library of every Physician, and is used as a Text-Book in all the Colleges, is full of evidence similar to the above, respecting the remarkable Digestive power of Pepsin, and the fact that it may be readily separated from the stomach of the calf or ox, and used for experiments in Artificial Digestion, or as a remedy for disease of the Stomach, and deficient secretion of Gastric Juice.
All modern works on Chemistry, Materia Medica, and Physiology, and all good Medical Dictionaries, describe the character and properties of Pepsin, and state many interesting details respecting it.
The fact that an Artificial Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, perfectly resembling the natural fluid, may be readily prepared, does not admit of question. The only wonder is, that it has not before been applied to the cure of Indigestion and Dyspepsia—so naturally does such a use suggest itself to the mind.

AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER,
Dr. Houghton's Pepsin has produced the most marvellous effects, in curing cases of Debility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption. It is impossible to give the details of cases in the limits of this advertisement; but authenticated certificates have been given of more than Two Hundred Remarkable Cures, in Philadelphia, New York, and Boston alone. These were nearly all desperate cases, and the cures were not only rapid and wonderful but permanent.
It is a great Nervous Antidote, and particularly useful for tendency to Billious disorder, Liver complaint, Fever and Ague, or badly treated Fever and Ague, and the evil effects of Quinine, Mercury, and other drugs upon the Digestive Organs, after a long sickness. Also, for excess in eating and the too free use of ardent spirits. It almost reconciles Health with Intemperance.

OLD STOMACH COMPLAINTS.
There is no form of Old Stomach Complaints which it does not seem to reach and remove at once. No matter how bad they may be, it gives Instant Relief! A single dose removes all the unpleasant symptoms; and it only needs to be repeated for a short time to make these good effects permanent. Purity of Blood and Vigor of Body follow at once. It is particularly excellent in cases of Nausea, Vomiting, Cramps, Soreness of the pit of the stomach, distress after eating, low, cold state of the Blood, Heaviness, Lowness of Spirits, Despondency, Emaciation, Weakness, tendency to Insanity, Suicide, &c.
Dr. Houghton's Pepsin is sold by nearly all the dealers in fine drugs and Popular Medicines, throughout the United States. It is prepared in Powder and in Fluid form—and in Prescription vials for the use of Physicians.
Private Circulars for the use Physicians, may be obtained of Dr. Houghton or his Agents, describing the whole process of preparation and giving the authorities upon which the claims of this new remedy are based. As it is not a Secret Remedy no objection can be raised against its use by Physicians in respectable standing and regular practice. Price One Dollar per bottle.
Observe this.—Every bottle of the genuine Pepsin bears the written signature of J. S. Houghton, M. D., sole proprietor, Philadelphia, Pa. Copyright and Trade Mark secured.
Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicines.

G. GRÆSSLE'S PRESSED, FIRE-PROOF TILING.

CERTIFICATES OF RECOMMENDATION.

BY the present, I attest my entire satisfaction with the roof of my house, covered with the pressed, fire-proof Tile, invented by Mr. Græssle; having found them perfectly secure during snow-storms, rains, wind and intense cold. I hereby take occasion to recommend said roof covering to every house-builder, inviting them to satisfy themselves by occular inspection of the excellent quality of the same.
ENNO MEYER, Druggist, 374 W. Water-st., 2nd ward.
Milwaukee, Feb. 3, 1852.

The above I found true in every respect, as to the roof of my house, covered with the same tile, invented by Mr. Græssle.
AUGUST KRUG, Brewer, Chestnut-st., 2nd ward.

The undersigned, having carefully examined the pressed roofing Tiles, invented by Mr. Græssle, have found them perfectly answering the purpose intended. Their practical and sagacious construction recommend this kind of Tile, not only as a fire-proof and perfectly water-proof covering, but above all for its durability. The ridges and channels not only exclude the entering of snow or rain-water, but, by their firm and precise joining of one into the other, they give to the single Tile as well as to the whole covering an absolutely moveable position and an intimate connection. Besides this, Mr. Græssle's method of burning the Tiles, deprives them of the injurious tendency to absorb water, making them in this way durable; and joining to the above another virtue, viz. that of dispensing with repairs. The undersigned therefore consider ourselves fully justified in recommending to the building community the above roofing Tile as an excellent and valuable material.

VICTOR SCHULTE, } & Builders.

To G. Graessle:—I have examined the Roofing Tile made by you, and have no hesitation in recommending them to general use, and particularly as a fire-proof roof.

GRIST MILLS.

THE subscribers, thankful for past favors, beg leave to announce that they have recently added the FOUNDRY business to their former occupation of Mill Stone manufacturing, and are now prepared to supply the public with articles in either branch, on terms that will defy competition.

In offering our Stoves to the community, we do so with the full assurance that we can supply better articles than can be purchased at any other place, being entirely new patterns, manufactured with care and from the very best materials. The following list of patterns is offered with the confidence that they will give satisfaction in every particular, viz:

THE ECONOMIST DOUBLE OVEN COOKING STOVE,

(Which received the First Premium at the State Fair, lately held at Janesville,)

Possesses great advantages over every other stove, for plain flues and direct application of heat, being so arranged that one or both ovens can be used at pleasure. It will cook in half the time of any other stove now in use, and with half the fuel, not consuming over four cords of wood in one year.

The TRIUMPH, single oven, takes in long wood, is an excellent stove—one that has been well tested, and given general satisfaction.

The PREMIUM is different in its construction from any other made, in the arrangement of the fire back—acknowledged to be a great improvement.

The JUNO PARLOR is adapted to either wood or coal, being decidedly the neatest arrangement ever offered to the public, having all the convenience of the stove combined with the beauties of the open grate. It is beautifully ornamental, highly finished, and perfect in every respect—the entire front above and below the grate being opened or closed with three doors, and so arranged that when open they are completely out of sight. It is equally adapted to offices as well as parlors.

The RADIATOR is the best coal stove ever got up as a retainer of heat.

Persons purchasing their stoves of us, in the event of any of the plates getting broke, can at all times be supplied with extra ones, thus superceding the necessity of throwing away stoves, which many are daily compelled to do in buying Eastern ware.

Those who are in want of an articles in our line, will find it to their advantage to give us a call, before purchasing elsewhere, as we are confident that we can give satisfaction in all cases. City references given, where our stoves can be seen in operation. Stoves delivered and set up in any part of the city, free of charge. All orders promptly attended to.

We would respectfully call the attention of our many friends, and the public generally, to an instrument we have recently imported from Paris, called a from which the above cut was taken. By it we can take the exact shape, and unerringly fit the most irregular heads. Many can testify to the inconvenience, and annoyance, and actual pain they are subjected to, in breaking in Hats that will not fit them. By this ingenious contrivance, this very great annoyance is done away; as the Hats are made to fit perfectly the first time.

Another great advantage is, by keeping a copy of the impression, we can at all times fit our customers from all parts of the country.

We invite all who desire a perfect fit in a Hat, to call and leave an impression of their head; and all those who take pleasure in witnessing the inventions of the ingenious, to call and see the operations of this curious instrument.

Having adopted the CASH SYSTEM (which all will readily acknowledge to be the best,) we are enabled to sell the best Silk Hat made, at the extreme low price of $4.25; surpassing any $5 Hat sold in this city. Our Hats are all manufactured by ourselves, and in offering them to our customers, we do so, with the confident assurance, they are all we recommend them to be. We invite all who do not wish to pay two profits upon a Hat, and are willing to save 25 per cent, to call and see us.

IMPORTANT TO CONTRACTORS.

PLANK ROAD LETTING.

PROPOSALS will be received by the undersigned for the graduation, superstructure and bridging of the Glasgow and Huntsville Plank Road.

For the information of non-resident contractors, it is proper to state that this road is intended to connect the city of Glasgow, on the Missouri River, with the town of Huntsville, in Randolph Co., Mo., and is about twenty-eight miles in length. The country over which it passes abounds with suitable timber, and is in other respects favorable to the cheap construction of plank roads. There are, however, a few streams which will require bridges of considerable extent.

The time for the completion of the road has not yet been fixed, and though it is desirable to complete the road as soon as possible, yet sufficient time will be allowed contractors. Contractors may rely upon promptness in payments, as the means of the company are ample.

Those who wish to examine the route will receive all necessary information from Maj. R. Walker, the Engineer.

Bids will be received until the first of June next, when it is proposed to assign the work to the bidder or bidders whose proposals may be approved as most favorable to the company. Plans of the work will be ready for inspection first of April.

For the encouragement of contracting companies, it is proper to state that there are two other plank roads in contemplation in the vicinity, both of which will no doubt be constructed.

Communications are required in duplicate; one copy to be addressed to the undersigned at Huntsville, the other to F. A. Savage, Esq., Secretary of the Company at Glasgow.

IT WILL STOP THE MOST EXCRUCIATING PAINS, IN FROM THREE TO FIVE MINUTES! AND HAS CURED

Rheumatism........In Four Hours.
Neuralgia........In One Hour.
Croup........In Ten Minutes.
Diarrhoea........In Fifteen Minutes.
Toothache........In One Second.
Spasms........In Five Minutes.
Cramps........In Five Minutes.
Sick Head Ache........In Fifteen Minutes.
Chill Fever........In Fifteen Minutes.
Chilblains........In Five Minutes.
Sore Throat........In Four Hours
Influenza........In One Hour.

SPINAL COMPLAINTS, STIFF JOINTS, STRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS, WOUNDS, FROST BITES, CHOLERA MORBUS, DYSENTERY, TIC DOLOREUX, and all other complaints where there is severe pains, RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will instantly stop pain, and quickly cure the disease.

THE HUMAN FRAME

Is the most perfect masterpiece of mechanism in the universe. Every artery, muscle, ligament and bone, exhibits in its formation the wisdom of the Deity. Every joint and sinew works harmoniously with each other, and upon the natural performance of every function, depends the healthful action of the whole.

PAIN

Disorganizes the whole system, it prostrate the nerves, it relaxes the muscles, it weakens the joints, it interferes with the functions of every organ, it checks the free and healthy circulation of the blood, it paralizes the absorbents, and renders them unable to take up and replete the wasted form with sound material. From the very moment that this beautiful masterpiece of God becomes afflicted with pain, the influence is experienced throughout the whole system, no matter in what particular locality the pain may originate; whether in the Head, the Feet, the Back, the Knee Joints, the Elbows, the Teeth, the Gums, or the Stomach; whether it arises from internal derangement, or is the result of external injuries, still the pain exercises its influence throughout every portion of the human system.—Not a nerve or a muscle escapes its prostrating influence.

INSTANT RELIEF FROM PAIN

Is the great desideratum of every individual who suffers its tortures, no matter how light or severe its paroxysms may be. No one can feel happy while suffering its torments.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

In a few seconds

WILL STOP THE MOST DISTRESSING PAINS.

Its effects are like electricity; it arrests the most distressing pangs in a few seconds, its soothing, neutralizing, and healthful influences thrill through every minute cell, membrane, and establishes the secretion of every gland in the system, subduing the most excruciating paroxysm of pain, and imparting strength and vitality to every organ.

NEURALGIA.

PAIN STOPPED INSTANTLY.

Radway's Ready Relief possesses an almost miraculous influence over the sharp darting pangs of pain of this cruel complaint. In a few minutes the pain-stricken sufferer experiences the delightful sensations of departing pain. It has cured thousands of cases in the city of New York, where many of them had been brought almost to death's door. The effects of the Ready Relief is to stop the pain immediately, to strengthen the nervous system, and supply the nerves with nervous energy and vitality, the loss of which is the chief cause of nervous pains.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

The use of Morphine, Strychnine, Aconitine, Belledonna Arnica, and other poisons are not only dangerous but cruel. The effect of these poisons is not to cure the disease, or to remove from the system the pains, but to deaden the nerves, to weaken and stop the nervous energy, to paralyze the functions of the nervous system, and to destroy sensation. If this practice is continued for any length of time, the patient will not only waste away, but the brain will become paralyzed, and the intellect destroyed.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF IS FREE FROM MORPHINE,

And all other dangerous and narcotic influence. To the weak and paralyzed nervous system it imparts life instead of death, and the pain is stopped by the healthy influence which Radway's Ready Relief imparts to the nerves, instead of the lifeless, sleepy and paralyzing effect which Morphine, and all other preparations containing this poison, produces on the system.

SICK HEADACHE.

Radway's Ready Relief will stop the most distressing pains in a few minutes, and prevent renewed attacks. It will cleanse and sweeten the stomach, and neutralize the poisonous acids of the system.

ALL BOWEL COMPLAINTS,

Diarrhea, Dysentery, Bloody Flux, Cholera Morbus, Painful Discharges,

It relieves the more severe pains in a few minutes—checks the most distressing discharges, and

SPEEDILY REMOVES THE CAUSE.

RHEUMATISM.

PAINS RELIEVED IN FIVE MINUTES.

Radway's Ready Relief will stop the severe and excruciating pains of Rheumatism almost instantly. Persons are living in this city who, for months, were confined to their beds by Rheumatic pains, whose bones were unsound from top to toe, whose joints were distorted with painful swellings, that were relieved from all pain in 15 minutes by the use of Radway's Ready Relief. This is truth, and thousands in the city of New York, and hundreds of thousands in the United States, can answer for the truth of this assertion—we need no certificates of Cures—we publish no long list of names to prove the efficacy of Radway's Ready Relief, for the Citizens of almost every town in the Union, for the last four years, have tested it for themselves.

CHILL FEVER.

CHILLS STOPPED IN A FEW MINUTES—PAIN RELIEVED INSTANTLY.

Radway's Ready Relief acts like a charm in all cases of Chills and Fever. It breaks the chills immediately—warms up and invigorates with health and strength every organ and secretion of the system.

PAINS OF ALL KINDS.

Whenever you feel pain, apply Radway's Ready Relief—it is sure to relieve you in a few minutes. If you have pains in the Stomach, Intestines, in the Liver, Kidney's, Bowels, Joints, Bones, Radway's Ready Relief, taken either internally or applied externally, will in a few minutes stop pain and quickly remove its cause.

BEAUTY.

Complexion richly tinted with the bloom of health,
With skin as pure and fair as Parian marble,—
Soft and sweet as the fragrant rose—
Teeth as sound and white as alabaster,
Breath of sweetest fragrance, and lips of coral tint,
With flowing ringlets and glossy locks,
Luxuriant tresses dancing gracefully o'er the swan like neck
No dark repulsive spots to mar the pleasing picture,
Or to cast dull shadows o'er beauty's master piece.

RADWAYS MEDICATED SOAP.

Composed of the most delicious, rare and fragrant gums,
Of extracts, oils, and costly essences—
Of flowers, roots, trees, and oriental plants,
Possessing wondrous virtues o'er skin diseases.

TO THE COMPLEXION IT IMPARTS BEAUTY.

By cleansing the skin from all eruptive matter,
Makes clean the pores, gives action to the capillaries,
By which all poisonous humors are ejected,—
And a healthy action to the skin restored,
To the teeth it gives whiteness and prevents decay,
It makes the skin soft, sweet and smooth,
Transforms the most repulsive and disfigured visage,—
To a clear and beautiful complexion.

RADWAY'S CIRCASSIAN BALM.

Imparts nutriment to the hair,—
Makes it stong, glossy, rich and luxuriant,
Cleanses the scalp from dandruff,—gives action to the bulbs,
Fastens the hair upon the scalp, and forces it to grow—
Like guano to a barren soil, it makes it rich and productive,—
To dress the hair, make it smooth and glossy,—
Strong and beautiful, &c.

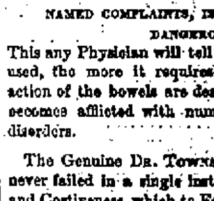

Radway's Circassian Balm is the "ne plus ultra."

Prepared by Doct. C. M. Jackson,
AT THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE,
120 Arch-st., Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are withal safe, certain and pleasant.

READ AND BE CONVINCED.
[From the Boston Bee.]

The Editor said, Dec. 3d: "Dr. Hoofland's celebrated German Bitters, for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these Bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor, a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomachs with safety, under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use."

SCOTT'S WEEKLY.

One of the best literary papers published, said, August 25 "DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, manufactured by Dr Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the faculty, as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitution will find those Bitters advantageous to health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

The Daily Sun says:—"It is one of the best medicines of the age for Jaundice and Liver Complaint."

Neal's Gazette says:—"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters we know to be an excellent article, fulfilling in every respect what is claimed for it by the advertiser."

The Evening Bulletin says:—"The celebrated German Bitters are said to be an invaluable remedy for Jaundice, Dyspepsia, and Nervous Complaints."

The Daily News, July 24, says:—"A Medicine—We speak knowingly of Dr. Hofland's celebrated German Bitters, when we say it is a blessing of this age, and in diseases of the biliary, digestive and nervous systems, it has not, we think, an equal. It is a vegetable preparation, and made without alcohol, and to all invalids we should recommend it as worthy of their confidence."

The Dispatch says:—"As a medicine for Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Nervous Debility, and Dyspepsia, it has been found invaluable, effecting cures, and thoroughly eradicating disease, when all other medicines have failed."

That this medicine will cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, no one can doubt, after using it as directed. It acts specifically upon the stomach and liver—it is preferable to calomel in all billious diseases—the effect is immediate. They can be administered to Females or Infants with safety and reliable benefit, at any time.
